About MBTI®

The MBTI is the most widely used personality instrument in the world, with over two million taking it annually. It is a self-report personality questionnaire used to measure and describe people's preferences for how they like to get information, make decisions and orient their lives. It is based on Carl Jung's theory of perception and judgment and classifies people into 16 broad personality Types.

Who Should Attend?

People who have previously obtained basic accreditation in MBTI can attend this one day program to achieve advanced accreditation and access to MBTI Step II – Expanded Interpretive Report (EIR). To ensure understanding of key learning points and the ethical and professional use of the instrument, a short multiple-choice questions will be administered at the end of the day. Correctly answering most of these questions and actively participating in the various experiential exercises in the program will lead to successful completion of the certification program.

The Training & Certification Program

- Advanced EIR (Step II)
- Definitions of the 20 subscales/facets
- Obtaining clarity using EIR
- Describing within Type differences
- Relationship of facets to the four MBTI dichotomies
- Out of preference scores
- Coaching and counseling using the EIR
